Solidarity in Action: Understanding the Central American Refugee Crisis

The United States has long been the main destination for Central American migrants people seeking asylum, but in recent years, the rights of migrants and refugees have been questioned in an increasingly divisive political context. How do we talk about migration, refugees, and asylum seekers? Who defends and promotes their rights?

Join Solidarity in Action, an online workshop organized by The Church of the Good Shepherd, Acton and facilitated by Cristosal Global School to learn about the international and U.S. laws regarding refugees and asylum seekers. With a focus on the Central American refugee crisis.

What to expect:

- Deepen understanding of the struggles of people forced to move internally or externally from their communities of origin in Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador.
- Analyze the shortcomings of the asylum system with an international human rights perspective.
- Gain vocabulary to understand and advocate on behalf of Central American asylum-seekers in the U.S.
- Develop goals for continued learning and collaboration with other participants and facilitators

When:

Saturday, December 5th
7:00 - 9:00 PM EST

Saturday, December 12th
